PROFILE

Award-winning Director, Producer, and Editor with a proven track record in creating internationally recognised films. Since 2016, I have directed and produced short films screened at over 60 international festivals, including a BAFTA shortlist. Experienced in managing productions with crews of up to 100, I bring expertise across the full filmmaking process — from concept development and innovative storytelling approaches to editing and post-production supervision. Alongside my practice, I deliver masterclasses at leading institutions such as the London School of Economics, sharing my knowledge of producing, directing, and digital storytelling with hundreds of emerging creatives.
